COUNT ON Coleman

There's a quiet confidence that comes from being the one people turn to. That kind of reliability? It's not given, it's earned.

Earned by showing up, by being prepared, by delivering for the ones who matter most. Day after day. Year after year. For the big moments and the small ones.

It's why you reach for Coleman. Because you know that when duty calls, you have over a century of trailblazing American spirit riding shotgun.

From the backyard to the backcountry, from the sidelines to the Sierras, from gameday to the Grand Canyon.

When people count on you...

Cooking Outdoors Shouldn't Mean Settling For One Kind of Meal.

Consumer Pain Point

When I cook outdoors with basic gear, it feels limiting. I'm stuck with one way to cook instead of being able to grill or use a griddle, the stove is awkward to carry, and cleanup is a hassle. I end up juggling greasy parts and wishing outdoor cooking felt easier and more enjoyable

Cooking Great Meals Outdoors Should Be As Easy And Enjoyable As Indoors.

Consumer Pain Point

Cooking while camping can be more work than it should be. Most camp stoves feel bulky and awkward to set up, and cleanup afterward is a hassle. Even when everything's ready, the heat can be uneven. Instead of enjoying the meal, I end up managing the stove.
